

ORACLE Fusion Middleware Practice

Infosys' Oracle Fusion Middleware practice offers a unique combination of application integration and business process management expertise. Our technology leadership in Oracle suite of products and depth of knowledge in varied industry verticals has helped our clients win in the flat world. Infosys has rich experience drawn from three broad categories of engagements where clients are

- 1) Looking to realize the full potential of Oracle FMW while having a predominant Oracle ecosystem.
- 2) Trying to leverage the Oracle FMW platform in implementing Greenfield integration engagements.
- 3) Interested to move towards a robust platform using Oracle FMW from an existing middleware infrastructure.

Value Proposition

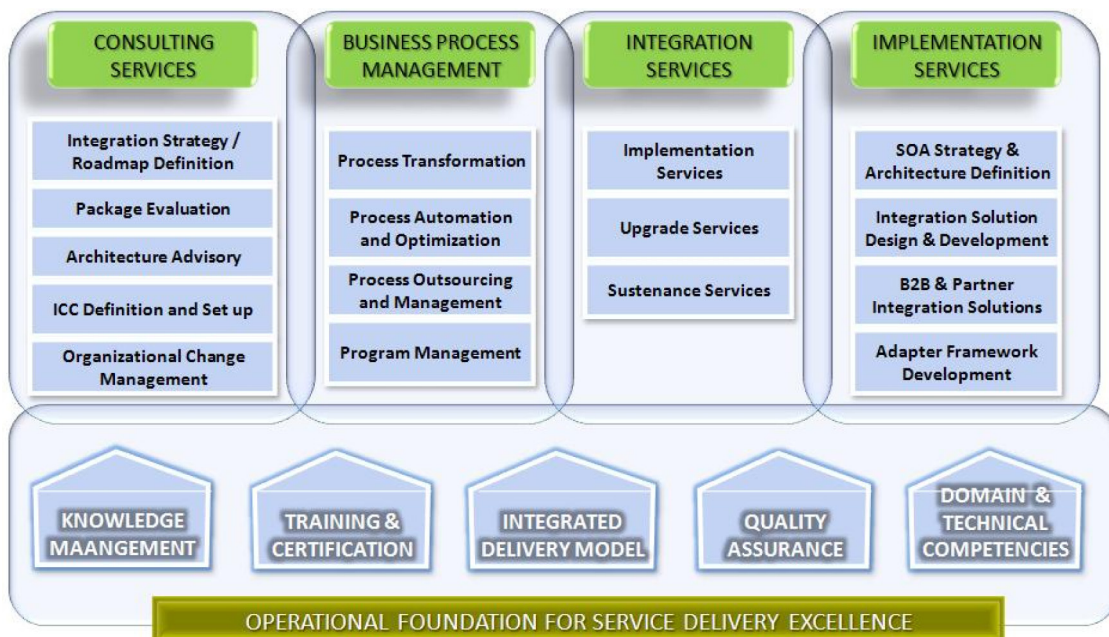

Oracle Fusion Middleware practice at Infosys is a part of the Enterprise Application Integration (EAI) unit. Fusion Middleware consultants provide customers the benefit drawn from many years of integration experience with variety of other EAI products including our long standing BEA Aqualogic suite delivery practice.

Infosys Oracle Fusion Middleware practice operates as an Integration Competency Center (ICC) that delivers the benefits of an ICC to every customer engagement. Framework components reuse, knowledge management, governance, skill-sets management and ramp up are some of the benefits that ICC has delivered.

Oracle Fusion Middleware practice has incubated O2 (Over to Oracle) solution framework, conceived as a migration framework for customer who want to migrate from an existing middleware to Oracle FMW.

Our focus and expertise on Oracle FMW and BEA Aqualogic suite of products will especially help our customers adopt/migrate to the new Oracle FMW product suite with ease.
