Unlocking business value with Infosys Blockchain Networks

The power of Blockchain is experienced when multiple participants collaborate over a common network simultaneously. Infosys distributed applications allow stakeholders to be on-boarded on pre-configured sandbox networks for the identified use case. Each participants perform their respective actions, validates transactions, provides data, retrieves a cumulative view of data, experiences automation, sees and acts on notifications, takes decisions based on integrated view now made available to them on our distributed applications.

In summary, everyone on the network gets to experiment quickly, in a non-intrusive manner, and experiences end-to-end visibility and enhanced trust.
