

DISEASE AND WELLNESS MANAGEMENT SOLUTION

There is an increasing focus on Disease Management and Wellness Management as an approach to control increasing healthcare costs. Infosys understands that the business objectives of different organizations that offer disease and wellness management are different, and hence offer a highly customizable disease management solution.

Infosys' Disease and Wellness Management portal solution is a Service-Oriented Architecture based, highly customizable solution that supports various types of disease management programs such as those focused on medication compliance, diet and nutrition management and life-style improvement. The solution supports the core functions of target setting, care plan creation, patient diary and follow-up reports.

The solution has a strong focus on patient safety, compliance management, patient education and enablement, motivational counseling, high-touch personalized care, ease of use of IT application, privacy and security. The solution also comprises self-service functions like appointment scheduling, prescription refill requests. Patients stay tuned on their progress through wellness calculators and risk assessment surveys. Our solution effectively leverages healthcare social platform features like eConsultation, microcommunities, discussion forums, blogs, health wikis, healthcare widgets, social bookmarking, tag clouds, web analytics as well as sentiment analysis. We also offer disease and wellness management solution in hosted SaaS (Software as a Service) mode.
