

Infosys Technologies Limited obtains temporary injunction against Aftel Infosys Limited in the trademark infringement case

December 21, 1999 -- Bangalore, India -- Infosys Technologies Limited [NASDAQ - INFY; Reuters - INFY.BO (BSE), INFY.NS (NSE)] today announced that the Honourable Calcutta High Court has restrained Aftel Infosys Limited (formerly Aftel Business Machines Limited) from using the trademark "INFOSYS".

"Investors and the business community associate the mark "INFOSYS" with us and we will take all necessary steps to protect our trademark from infringement," said Mr. Nandan M. Nilekani, Managing Director, President and COO. Infosys is the proprietor and registered owner of the trademark "INFOSYS" in India and has been using it as its trademark and corporate name for nearly two decades now.

The Honourable Calcutta High Court restrained Aftel vide a 'Temporary Injunction', ex parte from using the word/mark 'Infosys' by itself or in combination with other marks in course of trade or any mark deceptively similar thereto or in colourable imitation thereof.

Infosys has already proceeded against numerous companies in India and restrained them from infringing on "INFOSYS" trademark.

"The unprecedented success of Infosys Technologies Limited, has prompted many companies to alter their name or form new companies by including the word "INFOSYS" in their trading style to allude their association with us. Investors should be alert against such schemes/strategies" said Mr. T. V. Mohandas Pai, Senior Vice President (Fin & Admin) and CFO.
