

Infosys Fills Key Strategic Role in IKON's Evolution to e-Enable the Company Multi-Million Dollar Contract Designed to Build IT Infrastructure

FREMONT, CA -- 19 July 2000 -- Infosys Technologies Ltd.(Nasdaq:INFY), a leading IT consulting firm, and IKON Office Solutions, an industry leader in business communications technologies and services, announced the enhancement of their very successful relationship and strategic partnership. Historically, Infosys has played a central role in the implementation of IKON's IT strategy and infrastructure. The expanded relationship, valued at several million dollars per year, is directly tied to helping IKON accelerate the realization of business benefits in the areas of customer relationship management, sales force empowerment, supply chain integration and human resource management.

IKON Office Solutions provides 400,000 customers with total business solutions for every office, production and outsourcing need. From 900 locations worldwide including the United States, Canada, Mexico, the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Ireland and Denmark, IKON provides digital copiers and printers, distributed printing, facilities management, imaging, color and legal outsourcing solutions. Using the latest technology from companies such as Canon, Microsoft, Oce, Ricoh, IBM/Lotus, Compaq and Hewlett-Packard, IKON provides volume document management, centralized print room management, imaging services, software development, ebusiness solutions and training. IKON ended its fiscal 1999 with revenues of $5.5 billion.

IKON is transitioning to a highly distributed e-company, with sales and services organizations empowered by Web-delivered tools. The Company is investing in the technologies that both enable IKON employees to be more productive and facilitate a customer-centric view of the company. "Infosys has been engaged - and is playing a very significant role - in virtually every systems initiative we have underway," stated David Gadra, Senior Vice President and CIO of IKON Office Solutions. Gadra's next steps include empowering customers and e-enabling them in their dealings with IKON. "This kind of strategy creates a tremendous dependency on our systems and solutions. Without question, Infosys will play a continuously evolving role in the development, deployment and ongoing operational integrity of these solutions, and our infrastructure, for years to come," Gadra concluded.

"We appreciate the confidence that IKON has shown in Infosys and our ability to meet the needs of such a dynamic and exciting company," remarked Phaneesh Murthy, Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing for Infosys. "In its never-ending pursuit of excellence, and with an emphasis on world-class customer care and support, IKON is a major provider of services that help businesses communicate," he commented.
