

ABN AMRO Selects Infosys as One of the Strategic Partners to Drive its Business Transformation Program

Bangalore, February 18, 2015: Infosys (NYSE: INFY), a global leader in consulting, technology, outsourcing and next-generation services, today announced a multi-year, multimillion-dollar partnership with ABN AMRO, a leading retail and commercial bank, to provide IT services for the bank's operations. As part of this, Infosys, as one of the strategic partners of ABN AMRO, will deliver services across application development and maintenance, testing and product implementation.

Infosys, along with other strategic partners of ABN AMRO, will help the bank rationalize its IT landscape to meet its goal of becoming a leading digital bank. This will include improvements to service quality and customer experience, greater operational efficiency, employee satisfaction and agility. In this organization-wide transformation initiative, Infosys will leverage key trends in the banking industry, including industrialization and digitalization, to help ABN AMRO build innovative products and improve profitability.
