Infosys Helps QSI Streamline Business Operations
Leverages its Proven ERP Capabilities to Enhance Revenue and Productivity at QSI

Bangalore, India – November 24, 2009: Infosys Technologies Ltd (Infosys) and Quantum Solutions India (QSI), a Contract Research Organization (CRO) today announced the successful implementation of Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2009 which will enable better data management, harmonized processes, enhanced data security and reduce delays due to high manual dependence at QSI.

Infosys recommended and implemented Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2009 at QSI for its flexibility, scalability, usability and reduced total cost of ownership. The company further integrated Adrenalin (Adrenalin eSystems) to address QSI's Human Resource and payroll management requirements. Through this program, Infosys has enabled QSI to achieve process standardization, faster transaction processing, efficient resource allocation, and reduced manual effort across financial management, sales and marketing, and resource planning.

Following this deployment, QSI was able to drastically reduce the invoice preparation time and significantly improve the data accuracy of invoices, leading to increased revenue and productivity for the company.

"For a complex domain like CRO, we collaborated with Infosys to leverage their proven capabilities in ERP and their cross-industry expertise across the Microsoft Dynamics product suite," said Apurva Goswamy, CEO, QSI. "The newly implemented ERP, Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2009, has streamlined and standardized our business processes, helping us improve our margins by demonstrating where the slack is, improving productivity, providing seamless information flow, and allowing faster and more accurate reporting."

Commenting on the relationship and the successful completion of the project, Ravi Kumar S, Vice President, Enterprise Solutions, Infosys Technologies said, "We are pleased to announce the successful completion of this program with QSI, thereby helping the company achieve its strategic growth plans. We continue to focus on the India market, leveraging our global technology expertise and proven capabilities in ERP implementation."
